General Information

MetroEast Community Media, in collaboration with a coalition of community groups, received word on May 6, 2008 that its application for a non-commercial educational (NCE) radio station had been approved by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).

The transmitter will be located on Mt. Hood in Brightwood. The studio will be located in Gresham. A translator was purchased in 2009. The broadcast area will reach most of east metro and Portland metro.

As a non-commercial station, KZME will not air advertising and will be supported by listeners, business partners, special events and various grant funding.
